The ŁUKASIEWICZ Research Network - Institute of Aviation
and the Warsaw University of Technology have a pleasure to invite you to the

XI International Scientific Conference on:
DEVELOPMENT TRENDS IN SPACE PROPULSION
SYSTEMS

The event will take place at the ŁUKASIEWICZ Research Network - Institute of Aviation, Warsaw

during 14-15th of November 2019

The conference is addressed to scientists, researchers and industry representatives
involved in the subject of space technologies
- especially in propulsion and rocket systems,
as well as suborbital vehicles and their payloads.

The conference forum is a perfect place to get familiar with ongoing projects and state-of-the-art achievements
in Polish and international space industry.

It is also a great opportunity for students and young scientists to meet more experienced researchers
and to promote their research, ideas and achievements.

We are looking forward to see you at the conference!
